

Please do not approve the NAB petition 04-160 to prohibit XM radio from broadcasting weather and traffic. This is insanity. I travel quite a bit, and love the continuity that XM radio affords me. How can we even consider limiting the content of a broadcast based on its form of distribution?

Technology has changed things, and always will. I am sure that the buggy whip manufacturers resented the automobile, but no federal agency gave them the right to curb their competitor's business.

Satellite is here to stay. Let's not set up artificial barriers to its usability and success.
